

WORLD COMMUNICATIONS DAY

FOR THOSE WITH LIMITED RESOURCES:

OTHER WAYS TO CELEBRATE WORLD COMMUNICATIONS DAY

The suggested WCD manual outline may sound a bit daunting, but it is very do-able if you have enough time, money and the dedicated volunteers. If, however, it seems too formidable, don't give up. There are other ways you can celebrate World Communications Day.

- Insert the Holy Father's World Communications Day message in your parish bulletin.
- Concentrate on only one or two of the points in the main WCD manual outlined in this manual
- Hold a letter-writing workshop.
- Hold a reception in your church hall and ask your pastor or other representative from the church to give a talk on the World Communications Day message
- Hold a book fair and sell donated and/or used faith-related books.
- Sponsor a "film festival" for the family.
- Ask a local vendor of Catholic books to set up a display and sell books, videos and educational materials.
- Where applicable, ask a representative from your local Catholic radio station or Catholic diocesan newspaper to give a presentation on the modern means of social communication and the Holy Father's message for World Communications Day.
- Distribute a listing of movie ratings and recommended videos.
